

MULHALL NOW WANTED BY 2 PROBES

Senate Committee Meets Early to Hold Him—Unfortunate Rivalry Rises

LOBBY PROBE BY HOUSE WAS COMMENCED TODAY

Mulhall Begins Story of His Activities Before Senate Committeemen

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The house lobby probe began today. Chairman Garrett flatly denied the reports of a disagreement with the senate probers over the calling of witnesses. It is known, however, that Chairman Overman of the senate committee sent a letter to Chairman Garrett of the house committee positively refusing to release Martin Mulhall to the house probers.

The senate committee hearing that the house committee intended to "kidnap" Witness Mulhall, met at 9 o'clock this morning instead of 9:30 o'clock as originally intended. Both committees have subpoenaed Mulhall. Public men refuse to deny their belief that the activities of both committees will be handicapped through the apparent jealousy between them. The senate committee-men charge that Garrett's committee are playing politics.

MULHALL BEGAN RECITAL TO
SENATE COMMITTEE LAST NIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Col. Martin Michael Mulhall began before the senate lobby investigation committee last night his recital of the legislative activities of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The most striking feature of his record was the complacent manner in which he admitted that while filling a federal position, secured for him by McComas of Maryland, he accepted an omission from Secretary Cushing of the National Association of Manufacturers; and posing as a leader of labor, engaged in an underhand effort to defeat the eight-hour bill, opposed by the National Association of Manufacturers, and to overthrow McComas for the same reasons.

lect Senator Aldrich and defeat Senator McComas of Maryland for reelection and William Hughes as a candidate for congress from New Jersey, was told the Senate lobby investigators by Martin Mulhall of Bal-more, self confessed chief lobbyist. He described his manipulation of the labor leaders, and told of hiring prominent union men of Philadelphia and New York, in compliance with the senators' request he mentioned several names. He said the national association usually backed the Republican candidates at the primaries.

Mulhall testified that Marshall Cushing, secretary of the manufacturers' association, sent him to feel eComas out. Cushing, said the witness, was a candidate for the federal bench, and Cushing instructed Mulhall to tell him his advocacy of the eight-hour bill had caused his defeat for the senatorship, and that he

"If he honestly means to let up you can promise to remove any obstacle to his political ambition," Mulall testified Cushing said. He testified he saw McComas, who tried to make his peace with the association, it refused to abandon the bill.

A BUSY SUMMER AT GARDEN GROVE

CASES OF EGGS BY SCORES DAILY

CHICKENS LAYING THEIR VERY BEST

Proposal Made For Bettering the Water System—Garden Grove News

GARDEN GROVE, July 12.—This summer Garden Grove is keeping up its reputation as one of the finest egg producing sections in this part of the state. Every day the Pacific Electric picks up several scores of cases of eggs at the depot and takes them to the Los Angeles markets, where Garden Grove eggs have a reputation as fresh ranch eggs. The chickens in this vicinity bring many hundreds of dollars annually into the pockets of their owners. Many of the ranchers make no great specialty of the poultry business, but rather follow it as a side line along with their farming activities.

This is going to be a busy summer among the ranchers of this section, for the crops are going to be big. The acreage in beans and sugar beets is much greater than in 1912.

The crops of beans and chiles around Garden Grove are looking fine. With an abundance of water such as this district has, crops are always assured. A large crop of walnuts is on the trees, and there will be a good harvest this fall. A large acreage of cucumbers and tomatoes are also in splendid shape. The beet harvest will soon begin.

A new beet dump is being built here for the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Co., making two at this place. Guy George is doing the cement work for the foundation. He also has the contract for the foundation for the Petroleum Distributing Company's new tanks which are being built.

An Oil Flood. A tank of oil belonging to the Petroleum Distributing Co. went down Wednesday night when the foundation became weakened and gave way, causing a loss of a full tank of oil, some 12,000 gallons, worth $1500.

To Better System. Arrangements are being made to better the water system and the fire protection here. An agreement has been drawn up and is being circulated for signatures. The property owners are to agree to pay $1 a month for water for ten years. R. W. Elliott agrees to build a tank not less than forty feet high with a six-inch main to the bank corner and a four-inch main the rest of the town. He is to install a new pumping plant, securing high pressure. The rate is $1 a lot or $1 per 800 cubic feet, meter measure.

A new building being put up by Lloyd Crane for a bakery is nearing completion.

A social gathering was held Wednesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. building to mark the close of the year's work of the Bible Class. Mrs. F. B.

Anderson addressed those present. Light refreshments were served.

J. H. Ayres, a former resident of this place, who has been living at Hollywood for the past year, has purchased a house and lot here and has moved with his family to remain.

Women in Runaway. As Mrs. Harris and daughter Clara were driving home from church last Sunday evening, a rig coming behind them ran into their buggy while trying to pass an automobile. Both horses were badly frightened and started to run but were soon stopped. The axle on Mrs. Harris's buggy was sprung, and both ladies were thrown out.

Lucky Wash Day. When Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Martin were dressing chickens Thursday morning their gasoline stove exploded, and as the main water pipe was running they could not get water to extinguish the fire, which had spread to a small building near by, but a neighbor who had drawn water with which to do her week's washing saw the predicament. Her wash water was used to good advantage and the fire was soon out.

Misses Ina Powell and Hazel Swall were Los Angeles visitors Thursday. J. A. McArthur and family left Thursday for Long Beach. While in Garden Grove they visited at the R. W. Elliott home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Swall of Sherman is visiting with her son, Chas. Swall, and family.

Will McKee, of the firm of Powell & McKee, will soon go on a business trip to San Luis Obispo county. He expects to be gone about a week.

COUNTY BOOTH AN ADVERTISER

Display in Charge of President Gates is Attracting a Good Deal of Attention

The Orange County exhibit at Fiesta Park during the International Christian Endeavor convention is attracting considerable attention among the easterners who are here to see what they can see as well as take part in the big convention. Howard Gates of Anaheim, president of the Orange County C. E. Union, is in charge of the booth, which is supplied with products of this county, among which oranges are most conspicuous. J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, which co-operated with the C. E. Union in establishing the booth, is well pleased with the display and the advertising that the county is getting through the attention being paid to the booth.

Metzgar as an Associated Chambers committeeman states that the proposed excursion to Orange County has been called off. Efforts to get the C. E. executive leaders to fix an Orange County day failed because the leaders thought it would not be advisable for the C. E. to favor any particular section in that way. For that reason the proposed excursion has been called off.

Last night Metzgar and D. W. McDannald, who is this county's representative at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, attended the smoker given by the Los Angeles Chamber to the representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

CHARGES POOLROOM LET MINOR ENTER

Warrant is Out for Harry Cline of Placentia—Gun Packer Arrested

Today a warrant was issued for the arrest of Harry Cline of Placentia, a poolroom and billiard hall keeper, on a charge of violating the county ordinance which prohibits a keeper of a poolroom and billiard hall from allowing a minor in his place of business. The complaint is sworn to by R. E. Beardsley, who states that Cline allowed Clyde Williamson, a minor, to enter the place.

Complaint Sworn. Today Sam Hurwitz swore to a complaint charging Robert O. Elliott with forgery. Elliott is the man who forged the name of I. C. Stearns to a $25 check.

Gun-Man Taken. Juan Soto was shooting up Los Alamitos for a part of it yesterday when he was arrested. Deputy Sheriff Dean swore to a complaint charging him with carrying a concealed weapon. Soto told Justice Cox he carried the weapon all right, but he would not plead guilty to the charge unless the judge would give him a fine and not send him to jail. The judge absolutely refused to make any compromises or promises as to what the sentence would be. The case was set down for trial on July 25.

PETITIONS FOR LOWER FIGURE

Bastanchury Ranch Co. Says Oil Values Should Be Assessed Elsewhere

Today the Bastanchury Ranch Co. petitioned the board of equalization to lower the assessment placed upon the ranch property by County Assessor James Sleeper. The petition shows that the property is assessed at from $80 to $125 an acre. The statement is made that the property assessed to the ranch company should not be put on the books at over $25 an acre. The high assessment is due to the fact that the land is considered oil bearing, and some of it is proven territory. That there is an oil value that should be assessed is admitted in the petition, but the contention is that the Bastanchury Ranch Co. does not own the oil interest, that it should be assessed to the Union Oil Co. and to Maria Bastanchury, an individual. The petition has not yet been set for hearing.

AT THE COURTHOUSE

ANAHEIM UNION WATER COMPANY THE DEFENDANT

Contractor Sues for $592; Judgment in Favor of Handy is Entered

Suit Over West Fifth Street Bridge Goes to Los Angeles

The Anaheim Union Water Co. is made defendant in a suit brought today by E. Morlae for $592. Morlae asserts in his complaint that he was engaged to dig a pit for the water company and line it with reinforced concrete. He says that the company did not keep the pit free from water and he was compelled to quit work. The defendant asked him to abandon his work and put in a shoe. This Morlae refused to do. The water company then took charge of the work and put in a shoe. Morlae asserts that there is $592 due him. M. M. Ferguson of Los Angeles is attorney for the plaintiff.

Queer Selection. Juan Hilario was yesterday sentenced to a year in the county jail for having stabbed another Mexican at Delhi. After sentence was passed, Hilario said he would have preferred a sentence to San Quentin, as he would be paid for work there. Judge West told him that that was not the law. The jail is the place where Hilario will be confined.

Interlocutory Decrees. Yesterday Judge West granted interlocutory decrees of divorce to Alice E. Chandler against Joseph R. Chandler, and to F. T. Smith against Louisa B. Smith. H. C. Head represented Mrs. Chandler and Clyde Bishop represented Smith.

Case Transferred. Yesterday Judge West gave an order transferring the case of the County of Orange against Hogue and the Guardian Casualty Co. to the Los Angeles superior court. This case was brought to recover from the surety company about $4500 on a bond given when Hogue took a contract to build the West Fifth street bridge, which contract he never fulfilled. The transfer was made on the ground of the residences of the defendants.

Foreclosure Judgment. A foreclosure judgment was given in favor of A. M. Harrish and against C. H. Penrose; amount, $1,735.25.

Handy is Winner. Joseph Handy has another decision in his favor. He was sued in Justice Fullerton's court at Orange by Boyles, an insurance agent, for a premium on a policy. Handy got judgment. Boyles took an appeal. The plaintiff then dismissed the case and brought a new suit in Los Angeles. Yesterday Attorney R. Y. Williams showed that the dismissal was entered here when the case was ready for trial, and on his motion the dismissal was set aside and judgment was entered for Handy. This judgment will be used in Los Angeles to secure the dismissal of that action. Hammack & Hammack of Los Angeles represented Boyles.

Attorney Appointed. L. Villas, charged with receiving stolen goods, will be defended by Attorney D. A. Casey, appointed by the court.

Citation Issued. On an affidavit by the county treasurer, Mrs. Flippen is cited to appear in court to show cause why an inheritance tax should not be collected from the estate of F. M. Flippen upon property decreed by Flippen in contemplation of death. Appraiser J. N. Anderson has been instructed to appraise the property. The matter will be taken up on July 18.

Marriage License. Harry E. Gardner, 23, and Eleanor M. Elmers, 23, both of Anaheim.

For Cuts, Burns and Bruises. In every home there should be a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, ready to apply in every case of burns, cuts, wounds or scalds. J. H. Polanco, Delvalle, Tex., R. One wants clothes that have ease rather than that "carelessness" characteristic of the average light weight attire.

One wants, in fact, that uncommon combination—garments that are light, cool and ample and yet have style.

TO BE GENUINELY SOCIAL, ONE MUST SERVE FELLOW BEINGS

Boys and Girls Must be Educated to Such Ideal or Schools Fail of Their True Mission

CHICAGO, July 12.—American schools under the present systems of education do not fill the place they should in fitting boys and girls for manhood and womanhood, according to Professor W. D. MacClintock, of the University of Chicago. Prof. MacClintock has long advocated radical reforms in American schools which he believes will tend to make the young graduates fitted to take up their duties as citizens. Today he gave to the United Press his ideas as to the changes needed.

BY PROF. W. D. MAC CLINTOCK, WRITTEN FOR THE UNITED PRESS

The test of our school system is whether it prepares our young people to take vital places in a real, social world—a world of all the people, a world of real, not accidental needs and service. In many ways our schools are still unsocial. They do not give the young people what is needed to make them self-supporting when they leave and go out into the world. They do not give them the things which society is glad to pay them for.

In many ways our women are the more "unsocial" of the two sexes, and our schools for girls, of course, with some exceptions, especially fail to train young women to be helpful members of society, and the world society is not used in the narrow, limited sense. Girls are trained in cultivated, but "unsocial" education. They are taught to be members of false "societies" on money they do not earn and do not know how it is earned, on a scale which the world really cannot afford, and with a social exclusiveness and snobbery which isolates them from the vast majority of mankind.

In order to be genuinely social, the individual must begin to make a return to society for what he or she has so long been receiving. And this return must be in some vital kind of service which society needs.

For a matter of twenty years on the average young people of today are "receivers" only; they have taken food, clothing, shelter, the experience of others, leisure and play. But while they have been receiving all this gratis few of them have had made plain to them that they were like a building in the course of construction which, when completed at the end of twenty years, must be put to good use. They can become social only by enthusiastically giving back to society for the rest of their lives something worth while. And this law of return may be stated not as a duty, a self-sacrifice, a service, but as a pleasure of the highest kind, and a privilege. Of all things most needed, young people need to be taught that no one ever gets something for nothing. The something received, must be paid for some time.

Again, we become social by learning to work, to know and respect labor. Idleness is the greatest social sin. The social realization is often best accomplished by working with others for some higher ideal. It is difficult to be social with ones immediate competitor, but even two rivals can operate together toward some common good. All modern communities offer higher social institutions in which the individual selfishness and egoism can be lost in the work for the good of all—schools, social betterment, play, physical improvement of cities, the institutions of religion.

No one can be finally social who insists on dividing men into fixed classes. We must all be members of the same class. Present day education tends to make us unsocial by making us exclusive. Finally, one becomes social by linking the past with the present, and development of hope in the future. Until our schools teach these things they will continue to turn out into the world every year thousands who, it is true have made high records in their studies, but who will be found unfit when they are tested as to their ability to make their own way in the world.

Marriage Broken by Order of the Court

Jack E. Van Sant is a free boy again. That is, he is disentangled from the marital web into which he flew last September—the 20th of that month to be exact. He was too young to marry, and when that fact was set forth to Judge West, backed up by proper legal authorities, young Van Sant was given the decision. Or rather, the decision was given to his father, for Van Sant is not yet old enough to bring a law suit in his own name. He seems to have pressed his suit with the young lady, and represented himself in that suit.

The wedding occurred here. The license was issued to Van Sant, who swore his age was 21, and to Lillian M. Rodgers, aged 18. His residence was given as Los Angeles and hers as Pasadena. Van Sant now lives at Huntington Beach. Immediately after the wedding Van Sant and the girl seem to have realized that they had made a sad mistake, for they never lived together, a fact set forth in the complaint filed by Attorneys D. G. Wetlin and B. E. Tarver when John Van Sant, the father, brought suit to annul the marriage. The complaint stated that Van Sant was a minor and had no permission to wed, and that therefore the wedding was no wedding at all. The girl was served with a summons, and did not appear to fight the case. Today the decree setting aside the wedding was signed by Judge West.

STATE'S FRUIT CROP PROVES HUMMER

Season Earlier and Yield Heavier Than Usual—Imperial Crops Break Record

Los Angeles Examiner: With prices on California deciduous fruits in Eastern markets ranging from $1500 to $2000 per car, and an estimated output to be shipped from the state of 14,000 carloads, pessimists who predicted a poor season will have to draw in their horns.

For these 14,000 cars at present prices will bring for California growers something like $28,000,000.

The Southern Pacific Company reports the movement over its lines eastward of 129 cars during three days of this month and states that shipments are now going forward at the rate of from 40 to 60 cars daily.

The season is two weeks earlier this year than last, and the yield is heavier. Plums are most important in quantity, but will soon be replaced at the head of the list by pears. Next in order come peaches, together with the last of the cherries and apricots. Shipping began a month ago and will continue until November, the maximum being reached when the grape crop is at its height in October.

In Imperial Valley the cantaloupe crop has been a record breaker. More than three thousand carloads have been sent out over the Southern Pacific lines to date, and there are still, it is estimated, 600 cars to come. Watermelons are ripening through the San Joaquin Valley and being sent to both local and Eastern markets.

The cotton crop of Imperial Valley has doubled over last year. The acreage is 14,000, or 55 per cent more than last year. This increase is proportionately the largest of any section in the United States.

C. J. Jones, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, states that the price level on deciduous fruits in the East is quite high this year, and because of the shortage in Eastern fields promises to continue so.

He says that the record sale for cherries was that of 20 cars, which grossed more than $69,000. One car sold for over $3000.

Railroad companies are calling upon shippers to co-operate that there may be a full supply of cars. If cars are loaded and unloaded promptly, there will be plenty to go around, but only prompt release of cars once loaded will allow the crop to move easily and rapidly.

An especial appeal is made at this time to prevent congestion.

AUTOS WILL ENTER YOSEMITE ON AUG. 16

Interior Department Will Have Representative on Ground For Occasion

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Automobiles may not be allowed entrance to Yosemite Park until August 16, according to the present plans of the interior department. Assistant Secretary Adolph Miller intends to leave for California in time to be on the ground when the first automobiles enter.

The regulations for automobiles have not yet been completely revised, but the tentative draft will be ready today. It is proposed to fix zones along the most dangerous portions of the Coulterville road, through which automobiles will be allowed a fixed time in which to pass. The time of entering and leaving the zones will be taken, and no one will be allowed to exceed the time limit.

The road will be open for automobiles during the portion of each morning and afternoon, the middle of the day being left to other vehicles.

If the use of the Coulterville road turns out satisfactorily, other roads leading to the park will gradually be opened.

THE HUMAN VOICE AT THE BALL GAME

The occasional visitor to the ball grounds is impressed by the overflowing loquacity of the American audience. Stirred by tense emotion, the undertone, or rather the overtone, of the battle is the raucous chorus of coaches, players, and fans.

It is apparently believed that fellow contestants need an incessant undertone of friendly encouragement. The pitcher and the batter, who are under special intense strain, are supposed to be strengthened and self-control made more firm by shouts of "all right, old kid" and an infinite variety of encouragement.

Some well meaning people have sought to eliminate from the ball field everything except necessary directions to players and hand clapping and cheering for good work. But this meets with no sympathy on the benches. To them baseball is not merely a battle of skill and physical endurance. It is one of self control in all situations. The team may excel in the first two, but according to American sporting ideals if it lacks a calm superiority to derisive clamor, it fails in a final element of power and deserves to lose.

A full report of all the impromptu witticisms would fill many newspaper columns. Players and spectators alike engage in this anthem of purported humor. The absurdities, the errors, manners and personal appearance of opposing players are jeered at. All which much be received in impassive silence. One man cannot successfully compete with a hundred wits.

American ball games will never be noiseless. The chorus of advice, encouragement and derision is merely the spectators' way of participating. A man's desire for athletic success may have been blotted out by his expert eye and feeble muscle. But if he possesses a ready tongue and a carrying voice, he feels that he helps turn the tide of victory. Perhaps he does.

OLD DANCE TUNES

When the fiddlers played "Turkey in the Straw," "Old Zip Coon," etc., some of the Confederates at Gettysburg dropped their suit cases in the dusty road, and loosed out the old measures until the musicians could see no longer.

Where are the dance tunes of today that will set the present set of boys and girls to footing it out on some day fifty years off in the dim future?

A certain school of dance music familiar to our fathers, and heard within comparatively few years, now seems almost to have disappeared. "Irish Washerwoman," "Money Musk," were examples of whole libraries of merry jigs. They were simple, homely little airs, suggesting breakdowns in farm kitchens, and dances of the squirrel tail hand tub company.

There was a kinship about these little measures, a rollicking quality, that modern machine dance tunes, cawed off by the yard to sell to music publishers, fail to show. This quality inspired very agile and individual manners on the dance floor.

In the old "contra dances" many people were not satisfied with the standard movements taught by dancing masters. They had individual kinks and pranks, which they kicked out to suit themselves. Some would become famous for these originalities. Visitors would come from miles around to see noted dancers go through the standard measures with their own variations.

The new style turkey trots and tangos are a revival of this taste for more vigorous and individual dancing. But they seem to run more to sex suggestion, and less to pure physical merriment and high spirits. One would go a long way to see those old "Johnny Rebs" of '63 do "Turkey in the Straw" on the road to Gettysburg!

$20 OR $3980 A WEEK

Oscar Hammerstein announces that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is to receive $4000 a week for her forthcoming engagement in New York. Mrs. Thaw undoubtedly possesses a certain amount of dramatic talent. When she was younger and prettier and at least as skilled, this talent honestly earned her a salary of $20 a week in the front row of the chorus. She is probably worth as much now. The other $3980 a week is for notoriety. It is simply on a larger scale the same sort of an advertisement recently announced by vaudeville.

Mrs. Soap Sink

quired to do any acting on it then. All she had ever done was to possess seven pink silk nighties and to get them into the newspapers. The memory of these garments, under the circumstances of their wearing, constituted all the dramatic talent needed for the practical basis of a week's vaudeville engagement. Mrs. Thaw has higher qualifications. She has behind her a sensational murder trial, the loss of the life of a great artist, and the wrecking of a great fortune, and at least one subsequent scandal. It is a strange commentary on American dramatic art that these qualifications should have a cash value of $3980 a week, while beauty, grace and moderate talent are worth $20 a week. —Fresno Republican.

THE BANANA TRADE

When it is remembered that the United States now takes 60,000,000 bunches of bananas annually, and that the trade is growing steadily, it is difficult to realize that the banana was scarcely known in this country prior to 1870. About that time the captain of a vessel trading between Boston and South America called at Port Morant, Jamaica, for a consignment of bamboo. Having room in the hold for further cargo, he decided to fill in with bananas, which he and other seafarers to the tropics had long been familiar. His venture proved so profitable that the importing of bananas became a regular trade, which has grown steadily as the popularity of the banana has increased. It is predicted that within a few years American fruit dealers will import 100,000,000 bunches of this fruit annually.

The thick skin of the banana makes it impervious to disease germs and no plant disease has been traced to either fruit or stalk. In order to test it, bananas have been immersed in impure water for hours without the skins being penetrated. The diversified ways in which the fruit can be prepared makes it very popular. Not only is it delicious baked or boiled, but it is also made from the fruit, and the preserved banana is finding popular favor. It is now predicted that before long some chemical process will be discovered whereby the skins and stalks of the banana can be used. —South American.

THE LACE OF VENICE

The lace of Venice has been celebrated for many centuries. It was made originally by nuns within the walls of convents for ecclesiastical garments. Then, with the fall of the Venetian republic, the convents were closed and the lace industry ceased to exist for an entire century. In 1570 the princess Marchionessa, afterward queen of Italy, took measures to revive it, especially as a means of providing employment for Venetian women. At present there are several schools subsidized by the government, in which the art is taught.

The pupils are women of all ages. Each sits on a low stool and holds a pump, square cushion in her lap. On this cushion is pinned a strip of paper marked with the pattern to be followed, and into this pattern the needle-fingered worker sticks glass-headed pins about which she twists her threads.

From twenty to fifty shuttles depend from all sides of the cushion, and these are thrown across and back with the rapidity of a typist handling the keys of her machine.

The process is so simple that it looks like play, but the lace produced represents thousands of dollars. The simple laces grow rapidly under the dexterous fingers of the women, but the exquisite rose point and other similar sorts are evolved much more slowly. —Harper's Weekly.

INSTRUCTIVE ADVERTISING

The attention of the public is directed to the advertisements of the Orange County Savings & Trust Company, which are now running daily in this paper. A new advertisement is run every day and each advertisement is in a sense an installment of a continued story. These advertisements contain much valuable information on the various phases of modern banking methods and are well worth reading. The advertisements have been carefully prepared and every one of them contains some good thought pertaining to banking matters and their relation to the public.

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, July 12.—If he can influence the press agents and newspapers of America, New York will never see Sir James M. Barrie, Bart., the English author and playwright recently honored by King George. The famous author of "Peter Pan" and "The Little Minister" will visit New York in November, but it will be Mr. James M. Barrie, Esq., on the ship's passenger list and the Gotham hotel register, not Sir James M. Barrie, Bart. The writer issued an ultimatum when he received his baronetcy on the King's last birthday, that his title should not be used for advertising purposes, and ordered all publishers and the managers using his plays on no account to let "Sir" appear on the title page of any of his books and in press notices and papers advertising his plays. The baronet feels strongly on the subject, and says he will never use the King's recognition of his literary and dramatic work to boost his fame.

This will be his second visit to the United States, and the purpose of his trip is to see Miss Maude Adams about a new play. Coincidentally, his first visit concerned Miss Adams though on that occasion it was accidental and not by design. His first visit occurred some years ago, when he first discovered the talent of the American actress. "The night before he sailed for home," said Miss Adams in "Rosemary," and said to Charles Frohman, "If you can get Miss Adams to play the part in 'Lady Babbie's' I will dramatize 'The Little Minister'." How he did dramatize the book and how Miss Adams used it as a vehicle to convey her almost instant stardom now is a matter of history.

The purpose of the coming visit of Sir James is to see Miss Adams in her coming revival of "Peter Pan" and to consult her about "Leonora," a new Barrie play which Mrs. Pat Campbell is about to give a premiere in London. The author wants to produce the play in this country with Miss Adams in the title role.

On the other side it is said that his title has not changed Sir James a bit. His only celebration of the honor, as far as his friends could see, was to have a new bowl put in his cherished and inevitable pipe.

When rehearsals of "Leonora" began the other day at the Duke of York's theater in London, Sir James read the manuscript to the cast without removing his pipe from his mouth. Barrie's small and slight personality and unassuming manner led to an amusing mistake recently on the part of a Maine farmer.

Fertilizing Apple Trees

A Maine farmer orchardist had several apple trees along the stone wall. The trees were not considered of much value until the owner plowed the field for a crop, fertilizing it heavily and giving it liberal cultivation. The trees got their share of the benefit and produced apples last year worth $285.

Another old neglected Baldwin tree was plowed and fertilized, and it responded with a crop of apples that sold for more than all the corn raised on the acre of ground where the trees stood.

"Gentlemen, I Don't Make a Cent on It Myself; the Profits All Go to the Retailer."

What Was His Hurry?

"I try to think," said Benham, "that woman is the equal of man and as well qualified to take a part in political life; but it sort of jars that belief to get the reply I did this morning from my wife when I remarked, on reading the returns, that Benham ran ahead of his ticket, and she innocently inquired: 'What was his hurry?'" —Judge.

Animals Hate Solitude

In all the animal world there is no voluntary recluse or hermit. No animal, whether wild or domestic, ever likes to be alone for very long at a time. Even the birds, of all kinds and species, hate solitude. Parrots, particularly, and all gregarious birds of the tropics begin to mope and pine away if kept in solitary captivity. —St. Nicholas.

J. P. Morgan's Start

Probably the late J. P. Morgan's first attempt at finance took place in Boston. His school teacher gave him money to buy erasers. Young Morgan was gone a long time. When he returned he handed the teacher the erasers and some change.
"What's this for?" asked the teacher. "I gave you just enough to buy the erasers."
"Oh," replied young Morgan, "I went around town until I could find a place to buy at wholesale."

Few Complete Education

of Henry Blossom, the librettist who collaborated with George Robyn in "The Yankee Consul" and other pieces made famous by Raymond Hitchcock. While Blossom, Charles B. Dillingham and Charles Frohman were in London together, Blossom rushed excitedly up to Dillingham and demanded to know the identity of "that little guy in a blue flannel shirt, with a pipe in his face who is panhandling Frohman."

In defense of American actors and against the charge that they are corrupting the King's English "as she is spoke" comes a plea of justification from actors in this country. The charge, as might be expected, came from London and Henry James. It read like this:

"American comedy artists, clever as they are, are especially to blame as a corrupting factor in the purity of our speech." New York actors who admit the charge, defend themselves on the ground that there is a great deal of the brand of English spoken in London that needs corruption to make it sound intelligible. Others blame the playwrights who furnish the lines and draw the characters.

"The trouble with the English actors is that they have the habit of talking cubist," said Carter de Haven. "You cannot understand them at all and the lines have to be modified to a great deal in order to make sense. What those chaps mean, I suppose, is that American actors use Americanisms with which the Londoners are not familiar. Some of them even use American slang, which is unforgivable from the English view point, though, take it from me, American slang is not half as bad as the British variety."

It was Lew Fields, the comedian, who blamed the whole thing onto the playwrights.

"If my English ain't good, it's the playwright's fault, ain't it? Sure. Suppose now he makes me a German character. I got to use German talk, ain't I? Sure. I can't speak regular talk and still be a Dutchman, can I? Sure not. Suppose it stands in the manuscript perfectly good English, but it says also I got to be a Dutch comedian, what do I do then, hey? I tell you something, a fact: It's all the playwright's fault, except where we got to make the lines ourselves, and then we make 'em fit what we think the part demands. Dickens himself wrote poor English sometimes, and he's just as good as I am. So don't blame me. Blame it on the man who wrote the lines."

Softening Light for Invalid

When any one is ill electric light in the room, if very strong, will tend to hurt the eyes and probably induce headache and cause a rise of temperature. A little bag made of green silk, large enough to slip easily right over the light, shade and all, can be fitted on and will look dainty and pretty. Run a drawingstring in so as to tie it on quickly, otherwise the patient will object to the fuss.

Bouquet Garni

A bouquet garni, which should be the good friend of every cook, is made of two sprays of parsley, a sprig each of thyme and summer savory, a small sage leaf and a small bay leaf all tied together. They should be allowed to cook in the dish to be seasoned for about 20 minutes and then removed. Longer cooking will render their flavor too conspicuous. —Chicago Journal.

BANQUET AND SOCIAL

Membership and Attendance Contest Ends With Happy Event at M. E. Church

A very happy and informal social and banquet was enjoyed last night by the Young People's Department of the First Methodist Church. The merry affair concluded a recent inter-class membership and attendance contest between the Philatheas, Junior and Senior Baracas and the J. O. C. Class and was given by Charles Heil, the superintendent of the Young People's Department, and the three losing classes to the winners, the J. O. C's.

The early part of the evening was spent in the playing of games, in conversation and in having an informal good time.

About 9 o'clock the young people assembled around the banquet table, where a delicious and satisfying two-course supper was spread. Sandwiches, pickles, ice cream, cake and chocolate were served. Mr. Heil acted as toastmaster and called upon a large number of those present, who obligingly responded.

Beautiful decorations of pink, white, lavender and greenery were artistically used in transforming the walls of the banquet room.

Messrs. and Mesdames Inwood, McMath, Robertson and Heil were honored guests at the enjoyable affair.

Birthday Party at Day Nursery

Little Ruth Abscher at the Day Nursery was eight years old yesterday and as usual in birthday events Matron Jones made the occasion a happy one.

A birthday dinner pleased all the little ones, and after the birthday cake with its eight candles had been eaten with delicious peaches contributed by Mrs. R. T. Harris, Mrs. Jones told the children that a pie was the next thing to be served. In reply to what kind of a pie it was to be she said "Nursery Pie." And sure enough it was that kind, every little one finding a childish gift at the end of a string in the pie dish. It was a merry, tableful of youngsters who dissected that nice Nursery Pie.

Matron Jones in this connection wishes to express the gratitude of the Day Nursery for the liberal supply of ice furnished them by Mr. Will Wakeham. He sees that there is plenty of the cooling material on hand all the time to keep supplies fresh and crisp.

Mrs. Tubbs at Home

After an absence of five weeks Mrs. Alice Tubbs returned last night from a delightful outing at Daniel and Sine-dale, Arizona. These are resorts of 7000 and 8000 feet above the sea level, in the heart of the mountains with lovely lake scenery and splendid trout fishing. Daniel is 150 miles from Rock Springs on the Salt Lake railroad and Mrs. Tubbs made the journey from that point in an automobile to Daniel. She was with a niece during her stay at the resorts.

When Mrs. Tubbs reached Los Angeles yesterday on her return she was met by her son Lester with the Tubbs automobile, and a lovely ride to Santa Ana was a fine climax to the enjoyable five weeks' outing.

Bosworth Tells Very Interesting
Story of Conditions in Mexico

FULLERTON, July 12.—William S. Bosworth, who has been buying vegetables for several years in Mexico for Hunt, Hatch & Company of San Francisco, and Marston & Martin of Los Angeles, arrived here yesterday from Los Mochis, state of Sinaloa, Mex. He came up the coast on the gunboat Annapolis, accompanied by twenty-one other Americans. Bosworth left Topolobampo a week ago, and tells an interesting story of conditions down there.

He has been buying and shipping tomatoes, peppers and eggplant to the United States, dealing mostly with American residents of Mexico. He reports that there are also a number of Mexicans and Chinese down there who grow vegetables for the market. Bosworth says other American firms have representatives where he is located and that 257 carloads of vegetables were shipped from that part of Mexico last year to the United States. Bosworth alone having moved over seventy cars. His companies have only shipped out forty-two cars this year, but would have moved over 100 cars up to this date had the railroads kept in operation. The other companies would have also made much heavier shipments.

Bosworth reports that the Mexican rebels have charge of the railroads in that part of Mexico; that they run the trains to suit themselves and that they are not looking for business and refuse to carry freight. He also says the rebels are stealing everything they can get their hands on. They loot, burn and destroy property at all hours of day and night. Topolobampo port is closed and the Americans down there cannot get supplies. When Bosworth left flour was selling at $15 gold a sack, coffee at $1 gold per pound and everything else in proportion. He says the Americans cannot leave, as they must stay there to protect their property. Bosworth found that the Americans had been well protected at Topolobampo port by the American gunboats. He declares the Chinese are treated like animals, the rebels taking absolutely everything they have. In that state the rebels will not fight the federals; they are not looking for a fight as they devote all their time to looting plantations, homes and business houses. He reports that there is a big fight on at Guaymas between the rebels and federals, and that the water supply of the city has been cut off. Mr. Bosworth thinks in time the rebels will get entire control on the west coast, and that they will then open the railroads, but he does not believe there will be any permanent peace in the republic until the United States takes a hand down there. Mr. Bosworth will not return to Mexico until the railroads open for freight traffic, which may be two or three months.

He has a place of his own down there and when conditions improve he will begin growing asparagus on his property.

Bosworth says some of the finest farm land in the world is in that part of Mexico and that there is a great future for that country on account of the low price of good land and the excellent climatic conditions.

For many years Bosworth was a well-known resident of Fullerton and after a short stay here he will go to Los Angeles to remain until he returns to Mexico.

ENGLAND WOULD WITHDRAW HER ARBITRATION TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Word has reached the senate from the state department that Great Britain, rather than submit to the "humiliation" of having her general arbitration treaty in the Senate, wants the President to withdraw the document from body, which is hostile to it.

75,000 People Coming West
Via Arid States Highway to Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—More than 75,000 people will come to Los Angeles in 1915 by automobile, en route to the expositions at San Francisco and San Diego.

This was the declaration yesterday of F. G. Hoge of Hopkinsville, Ky., official Pathfinder for the Panama-Pacific international exposition who has arrived here on his first trip by auto from the east. Mr. Hoge is engaged in collecting all data of use to motorists who will make the journey to the expositions from the east.

His principal work is to outline the best routes of travel, to make a complete list of reliable garages and hotels in every city and to encourage the making and cleaning of all water holes in the desert section of the country.

The route as now outlined by Mr. Hoge will bring the eastern motorists from Chicago and New York through St. Louis, Kansas City, Hutchinson, Kansas, Colorado Springs, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Globe, Phoenix, Yuma, Riverside, Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and San Francisco.

The number of machines that will be driven over the route is now placed at 15,000 by the officials of the Indiana, Illinois, New York and Tennessee auto clubs. On an average, Mr. Hoge says, that they expect each machine to carry five passengers.

Mr. Hoge, who was accompanied by his wife, was two months in making the tour from Chicago, by way of Louisville. He declares that the roads in some states are good and in others indifferent, but in California they are glorious.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The arrival of the first casabas and first Bartlett pears of the season on the market yesterday proved the attraction in the way of novelties. The change, of which a limited quantity was received, came from Imperial; the Bartlett pears from the Sacramento River district.

An advance of 1 cent in the price of local extra butter occurred. Although it may be followed by a reaction, it is hardly likely that such a movement will be of any permanence, because receipts are becoming rather light. Considerable eastern butter is received, and more would probably be sent in, were it not that it is feared tariff changes may effect the market, by making possible the importation of large quantities of the Australian product. Local eggs were firm. Canned stock was offered at 28 cents with 26 bid, and offerings of case count were at 26 cents. Kansas Nebraska eggs were easier. Cheese was a shade softer in spots.

The fruit market was well supplied with plums. Peaches were rather scarce. Apricots appeared to be somewhat easier, but were none too plentiful. Cherries were scarce. Nectarines were still offered around 7½ cents a pound and $2.25 a lug.

California "standards" are still the principal grade on the market. A few "ponies" and some "specials" are received. Watermelons were a little weaker, as the market is practically overladen with them.

Vegetables showed no particular change, the market being rather dull and featureless because of the hot weather. Gumbo was more plentiful at 5 to 6 cents a pound. Tomatoes were in fair supply.

Yucaipa Valley In Summer

What is it like in Yucaipa Valley in the good old summer time? Well, now is the time to see the valley in all its glory. Over three thousand acres of young trees, in three hundred well kept and well irrigated ranches, all growing to beat the band, make a sight worth going to see. But that is not all. The town site, the homes, the big water developments, the great pumps and irrigating system, the electric power and light system, all come in for a share of attention.

And remember, Yucaipa has a delightful summer climate. It is an evergreen valley. People go there to spend the summer, nearby resorts and canyons being especially inviting. Will Yucaipa come up to the great claims and expectations made for it? Well, take a look at it and see what you think about it. See the fruit on the grown trees this year and forecast the future.

But the best thing about Yucaipa is the opportunity it affords for profitable investment. With every passing day the valley grows richer because of the plantings and improvements. And this chance to get some of the best soil in the best water system in Southern California will soon be gone forever. Remember that every 10 acre ranch sold has been improved by the purchaser. Yucaipa is a valley of new homes, schools, churches and stores, farmers' organization and helpful co-operation methods. You can have your ranch cared for by an expert orchardist at actual cost. Only 64 miles from Santa Ana. Elevation 3000 feet. The finest all-year-round climate.

Go with us on one of these delightful one day trips by rail and automobile, and see for yourself the finest development in Southern California every week. Phone 970W.

FRENCH TROOPS OF COLONIES IN REVIEW

Mixed Colors From Over World to Join in Great March on July Fourteenth

PARIS, July 12.—Black troops from Morocco, Senegambia, Equatorial Africa, Algeria and Madagascar; yellow soldiers from Indo-China, and mixed colors from all parts of the world where the French flag flies, assembled here today and on Monday will march past the president of the French Republic in the biggest Fourteenth of July review ever held in France. More than 68,000 troops will be in line.

This annual review is a fixture, the Fourteenth of July corresponding to the American Fourth. But never before have troops been brought from French colonies to take part and never have so many home soldiers been in the line of march. It is to be a greater France review and every branch of the army and navy will be amply represented. Five dirigibles, including the latest rigid type, "Schwartz," will cruise over the regiments of artillery, infantry, cavalry, mountaineers, African Zouaves, desert musketeers and colonial Marseillais. The finest fleet of aeroplanes in the world will participate in the evolutions about the dirigibles and salute President Raymond Poincaré as he sits, surrounded by his staffs, military and civil, in the President's stand at Longchamps.

The review is to represent the "new spirit" in France and will be a celebration of the increase from 450,000 men in the standing army to 700,000 in answer to Germany's colossal effort for a standing army of 900,000 troops. The feature of the review will be the native colonials, the blacks from Gabon and the Lake Tchad regions; the Annamites, Tonkinois and Saigonese orientals; Madagascans, Senegalese and negroes from Dakar, and others. Colors will be presented to detachments representing these overseas regiments, and the First Regiment of Senegalese, already colored with a standard of their own, will dip their colors before Minister of War Etienne, who with his own hands will pin to the flag the Cross of the Legion of Honor for "services rendered their country on the field of battle."

The review will end with the charge of the famous French lightning cavalry, pronounced by experts to be the world's finest soldier-horsemen. About 6,000 of these will take part in the charge.

LOST 3 INCHES OF HEIGHT

Porterville Attorney Found Himself a Shorter Man After Two Months in Bed

PORTERVILLE, July 12.—When George Crittenden, an attorney, got out of bed yesterday for the first time since he was injured in an automobile accident two months ago, he found that he had lost three inches in height. This unexpected sequel of his recovery is the more extraordinary because it is well known that the human body gains in length while lying prone. A man is normally taller in the morning than at night.

HARDEST FIGHT SINCE HOLY JIM FIRE

Believed Fishermen Started
Flames That Threatened
Forest and O'Neill's

It is believed that someone in a party of five fishermen was responsible for the fire that broke loose in the San Mateo canyon near the south line of the county last Sunday. The forest officers are working on the case, and a prosecution may be begun in San Diego shortly.

The fire was the hardest to fight that has occurred on the Trabuco division of the Cleveland National Forest since Holy Jim Canyon on the south side of Old Saddleback was swept clean in the big fire five years ago. Forest Ranger Stephenson of El Toro, who was in charge of this week's fire-fighting, was also in charge of the Holy Jim fight, and in many ways this was as hard as the Holy Jim battle. The San Mateo is as rough as any part of the mountains. Trails are as scarce as hen's teeth and as difficult as the needle's eye. The weather was scorching hot, and the flames made the occasion anything but an outing for the 150 men who were taken into the mountains by the forest rangers from El Toro and Marietta, who were sent in by Jerome O'Neill of Oceanside.

Had it not been for the quick work and the hard fight made by the fire-fighters nothing could have stopped the fire short of Eldorado on the east and the ocean on the west. The wisdom of the establishment of a lookout station on Old Saddleback was demonstrated. Soon after the smoke was sighted by the lookout men, Forest Ranger Stephenson had a bunch of men headed for the rough country.

The fire started in the bottom of the San Mateo. The forest officers discovered the tracks of the man undoubtedly responsible for the fire. A cigar or cigarette stub carelessly thrown away by the fisherman, who was one of a party of five that went in from Marietta, was responsible for the starting of the flames.

Making It Ample
Joel Chandler Harris, the author of Uncle Remus, was at a desk one night when an old-time reporter looked over and said: "Jee, how do you spell 'graphic'?" With one "f" or two?" "Well," said the kindly Uncle Remus, who was too gentle to hurt even a common adjective, "if you are going to use any, Bill, I guess you might as well go the limit."

Furnish a Photograph
"This reporter wants my photograph."
"Well,"

"Of what interest to the public is my impending divorce?"
"Do not overlook the power of the press, my dear. When I was divorced the last time the papers published my photograph, and it got me a new husband almost immediately."

Unruffled
"I have my good points," said Was-serby.
"I fail to see them," said Pickle-dori.

"That's all right," answered Was-serby. "I cannot find it in my heart to blame a fellow man because he is afflicted with myopia, which may possibly be still further complicated by strabismus."

A Militant Lady.

"Did you ever think that you would make a good king?"
"Never thought about that. But in one respect my wife would shine in regal circles."
"In what way?"
"She would make such a good colonel for one of those royal regiments. You know the custom of appointing ladies?"

SHE DIDN'T LIKE CARLYLE.

Janet Ross Tells a Couple of Tales to Justify Her Aversion.

Two good stories of Carlyle appear in "The Fourth Generation," by Janet Ross, the daughter of the brilliant Lady Duff-Gordon.

"The one of our many visitors to Queen square whom I cordially disliked was Mr. Carlyle. He was a great friend of Mrs. Austin and professed to admire Lucykin, as he called my mother, very much. One afternoon he had a discussion with her on German literature, and her wonderful eloquence and fire prevailing, Carlyle lost his temper and burst forth in his Scotch tongue, 'You're just a windbag. Luce; you're just a windbag!' I had been listening with all my ears, as my grandmother always spoke with such enthusiasm about him; but, furious at my mother being, as I thought, 'ruined' named by so unbecomingly a man, I interrupted and exclaimed, 'My papa says men should be civil to women.' For which pert remark I was reproved by my mother. Mr. Carlyle, however, was not offended and only observed, 'Lucykin, that child of yours has an eye for an inference.'"

At a later age she had this experience with him: "My cousin, Henry Reeve, the great Henry, as we called him, while others irreverently knew him as 'Baron Puffendorf,' was always kind to me. When I stayed with him in Rutland Gate I took up my cot, and we used to ride in the park with his friend, Charles Greville, whom I did not much like, with Deane, jaunty and kindly, who had a smile and a nod for every one and looked fresher than many of the young girls, although he was up till 2 or 3 every morning at the Times office, and with Mr. Carlyle.

"Henry welcomed Carlyle with effusion, but generally managed that Deane or Charles Greville should ride with him, while I had to go with Carlyle. One day as we were trotting his wilder was blown off. A civil workman picked it up and ran after us instead of giving him a sixpence or even a twopenny. Carlyle said: 'Thank ye, my man. Ye can just say ye've picked up the hat of Thomas Carlyle. I felt so ashamed that I told either he must come and meet me in the park and take me away from the sage.'"

BULLIOT'S RASH BET.

A Banker's Wagers on St. Swithin's Day Rain Legend.

There were few frenzied financiers in England at the beginning of the eighteenth century if the banker Bulliot, of whom the following story is told, can be taken as an example: The feast of St. Swithin, July 15, 1725, was a particularly wet and stormy day.

Trusting implicitly in the old superstition which says that if it rains on St. Swithin's day it will rain for forty days thereafter, Bulliot opened a pool for every one who was willing to bet against him. The affair attained so much notoriety that the wager was reduced to writing.

"If, dating from St. Swithin's day," reads the memorandum, "it rains more or little during forty days successively Bulliot will be considered to have gained, but if it ceases to rain for only one day during that time Bulliot has lost."

For two weeks it continued to show or every day, and so confident did the banker become that he accepted as stakes not only money, but gold and silver, jewels, snuffboxes and even clothes. When his cash gave out he offered notes and bills of exchange. Another week passed, and Bulliot's star was still in the ascendant.

But when the twenty-second day sank into the west bright and cloudless the unfortunate banker was ruined.—London Graphic.

Naming a Town.

The late Colonel Sanders was canvassing Montana for votes for himself for governor. He came to a little settlement, not yet named.

He met a man and said, "I am Wilbur F. Sanders."

"Yes," said the man.

"I am running for governor. Will you vote for me, my friend?"

"No."

"Well," said Sanders, producing a bottle, "will you have a drink?"

"You bet," said the man.

And that is actually the way the town of Uhot got its name.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Doesn't Like to Move.

A most curious and sluggish creature is the tantawa, a nine inch lizard whose home is in New Zealand. This little inaction saurian has the reputation of being the laziest creature ever created. He is usually found clinging to rocks or logs along the shores of rivers and lakes and has been known to remain in one position perfectly motionless for many months. How the creature manages to exist is a mystery.

A Basis of Confidence.

"By Jove," said Wilkes after the vaudeville performance was over, "it must take a lot of nerve for that man to lean up against a board while his wife hurled all those knives at him."

"Nerve nothing!" retorted Blakes. "He's perfectly aware she couldn't hit him if she tried."—Harper's.

Explained.

"I hear Miss Strongmind has chucked poor Thompson," said Dabney.

"Sad, but true," said Wilkins.

"Why, I always thought Thompson was a brick," said Dabney.

"He is," said Wilkins. "That's why she threw him."—Judge.
